WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1817.

[No. 5058.]

For the prevention and cure of FEBRILE AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
HAMILTON'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
This Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly gratifying to the feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary medicine, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than can be expressed in pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason for confiding in its efficacy from extensive experience for having tried a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases estimated desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably effectual in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir.
A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, cat-arrhs, and approaching consumptions.
To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative.
Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of Nervous Disorders Violent cramps in Consumptions the stomach and Lowness of spirits back
Loss of appetite Indigestion
Impurity of blood Melancholy
Hysterical affection Gout in the stomach Inward weaknesses Pains in the limbs and debility Relaxations, etc.

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.
A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lo's Ointment for the Itch.
Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaster.
An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion.
So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetter, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water.
A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.
The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lo's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops.
For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.

LAW OPINION.

We request the attention of our readers, particularly the mercantile class, to the very interesting opinion of Judge Emott, in a case of alleged fraud. They will find there the opinion of an able Judge, and his sentiments respecting cases of too frequent occurrence among us, expressed in language so precise and perspicuous that every man can comprehend it at a glance. Well does he observe that "Fraud, under color and pretence of law, and committed with the forms of law, is the worst of all fraud." We may appeal to almost every man of business in this city, if he has not had abundant reason, within two years, to feel the full force of this observation. How much is it to be lamented that there are Judges who give us reason to suppose that they hold the converse of this proposition; and think, that provided the forms of the law are but complied with, fraud no longer deserves the name of fraud, but loses all its turpitude and all its infamy.

Opinion of the hon. James Emott, first Judge of the common pleas.

Richard De Witt. This cause comes before the court vs. Selah Pike. On a motion to set aside the judgment, which is one by confession; or in case that is denied, for an issue to try a charge of fraud in relation to the payment growing out of an alleged want of consideration, and the situation of the parties.

As far as relates to this court, the application is novel but by no means unexpected. It has lately been so much the custom with us, for fraudulent debtors to fence against their just creditors, by the means of judgment by confession, that it is matter of surprise the validity or effect of such judgments have not before been made the subject of investigation. No sooner now does a man undertake to fail for bad purposes, than he flies to the courts to shield his property, and to defeat the demands and the remedies of his just and honest creditors; judgments are entered in favor of pretended creditors, sham sales take place, and the debtor with his property at his control, puts at defiance his real creditors.

To use the process of courts for such purposes, is to poison justice at its very source. Fraud under colour and pretence of law, and committed with the forms of law, is the worst of all fraud; and it behoves courts to view steadily, and to oppose firmly, every attempt to turn them or their proceedings into engines of fraud, chicanery, or oppression.

But, though new here, these applications have long since been recognized and adopted by our supreme court. In the case of Fraser & Fraser, (9 John 80,) the court declared they had an equitable jurisdiction over judgments entered upon bonds and warrants of attorney, and in that case an issue was awarded to try the charge of fraud, it being denied by the affidavit of the plaintiff. Indeed the statute of frauds, which "for the avoiding and abolishing of all feigned, covinous and fraudulent encumbrances, gifts, suits, alienations, conveyances, bonds, grants, judgments and executions, which are devised and contrived of malice, fraud, covin, or collusion or guile, to the end, purpose and intent to delay, hinder, or defraud creditors of their just and lawful actions, suits, accounts, damages, penalties, forfeitures and demands, not only to the let or hindrance of the due course of law and justice, but also to the overthrow of all true and plain dealing, bargaining and chicanery between man and man, without which no commonwealth, or civil society, can be maintained or continued," declaring among other things, "all and every bond, suit, judgment and execution, to be had or made to or for any intent or purpose before declared and expressed, against the party whose action, suit, debt, account, damages, penalties, forfeitures and demands, by such guileful, covinous, or fraudulent devices or practices as aforesaid, are in anywise disturbed, hindered, or defrauded, clearly and utterly void, prostrate and of none effect, any pretence, colour, feigned consideration, or any other matter or thing to the contrary notwithstanding," is imperative on the courts to examine such fraudulent judgments, and to controul their injurious effects.

The court accordingly have no doubt of their equitable controul over these judgments on warrants of attorney, and they feel very much disposed to exercise their controul promptly and efficaciously, when a proper case is presented to them. It remains then to be seen whether this is such a case. The first enquiry in course is, whether it is brought before the court on the application of a person having right. It certainly is true that though the judgment be fraudulent, yet only those who can be prejudiced by it are authorized to draw it in question. It is not necessary to decide here whether every creditor has the right—One of the applicants has a younger judgment and execution, and he doubtless can test the validity of the prior judgment and execution, which stand in the way of his debt—Nor is it any answer to him that he may have some other remedy. If it be true that another remedy does exist, it cannot take away his right to this remedy, or destroy the power of the court to do him justice in this case, and to the plaintiff, equitable way, as he may make out his own case by his own showing.

Is this a case of fraud? Without going at large into the evidence on the part of the applicants, it is sufficient for the court to say, that from the facts stated, and the inferences fairly drawn in the affidavits, the court would be bound on these affidavits, if they were uncontradicted, to set aside the judgment as being without consideration and void.

But the plaintiff has made a counter statement—he avers that he had a long account with the defendant, which he could not get him to settle. That the defendant, however, finally agreed to give him a bond in judgment for five hundred dollars, which the parties believed to be about the amount of the account, and if it turned out to be less, the plaintiff was to adjust with the defendant. The plaintiff now exhibits his account, commencing in April 1808, and carried down to 1816—this account is principally in small items for cash advances, it has no credits whatever, and with interest added on the charges of each year, amounted when the bond was given, to a sum but little rising 200 dollars.

Now as to this account, the court have several difficulties. In the first place, it is strange the account should have been running for upwards of a year, the plaintiff making continual cash advances, with a single receipt or credit, and the defendant all the while putting off a settlement—This is certainly not in the usual course of business.

Again, if the defendant would not, as is stated by the plaintiff, come to a settlement, which seems to imply that something more was to be done than to look over the charges of the plaintiff, some counter charges to be bro't, it is rather unaccountable that the parties should think an account which, without the interest, was less than 180 dollars, amounted to 500 dollars, and particularly that the plaintiff, with his books frequently in his hands to settle the very account, should so believe. And it is equally strange that the defendant, who felt such reluctance to come to any settlement with the plaintiff, should so willingly give him a judgment controuling his person and property for a sum so much beyond the pretended debt—other circumstances might be mentioned, as it might prejudice the plaintiff in the course about to be taken.

Upon the whole, the court see enough in this transaction to make them hesitate; but as they wish not to decide the fact under the circumstances of the case, without the intervention of a jury, they direct an issue to try the charge of fraud—and in the mean time, the plaintiff to collect the sum of 250 dollars on the execution, and to pay the same into court, that sum appearing sufficient to cover the demand of the plaintiff at the time of giving the bond according to his own showing.

RULE.

It is ordered that a feigned issue be made up under the direction of one of the judges of this court to try the fact whether the judgment in this cause was entered for the purpose of securing or enforcing a bona fide debt due at the time and its amount, or to cover and protect the property of the defendant against his creditors; the issue to be drawn in such manner that the plaintiff be bound, on the trial of issue, to set forth and prove the matter and consideration for which the bond was given by the defendant; and that Jacobus Swartwout, the creditor in whose behalf the application is made, be permitted to subpoena witnesses in the name of the defendant, and on the trial be allowed to examine the plaintiff and defendant in this cause, their books and papers. And it is further ordered, that the plaintiff collect on the execution in this cause 250 dollars, and no more; and that he bring the said money into court to abide its further order and direction.

COMMUNICATION.

SOUTH AMERICA.

"Blessings," says our old and much beloved friend Sancho Panca—"Blessings on him who first invented this self-same thing called sleep! it covers a man up like a cloak." So may all our fraternity say of the subject that heads this article—blessings on South America and its patriots. We should have nothing but old joes to offer to our readers in "this weak—this piping time of peace," if it were not for the surmises and counter-surmises, the assertions and contradictions, the arguments and the drowsy replies to them, the pathetic exhortations of their friends to animate the world in their favor, and the dolorous apprehensions and deprecations, of such temerity in others—we will not say their enemies, for we believe they have not an enemy, save among the devoted slaves and creatures of Ferdinand, in this world. And now the ball has been struck out by a letter just published at Washington, we expect to see it handled about without cessation, till the close of the ensuing session of congress; when, along with our national legislature, it will be indulged with a recess, and with the worthy members who compose that great body, go to sleep till the next meeting; by which time, it is to be hoped, our missionaries will have returned from South America, and the gallant strugglers in the cause of freedom have accomplished their triumph over Ferdinand and his inquisitors.

In the mean time we hope that the efforts of their advocates in this country will not be suspended, nor in the slightest degree relaxed; and that, to that end, the counter-scribes will keep up an increased fire on them, since, by the tossing of the ball to the Patriotic players, they will be enabled to keep it up with greater spirit, and do vast grace and service to their cause: for it is a truth, established by experience, that a virtuous cause, like a virtuous man, is exalted, honored and illustrated by every stroke of hostile assault.

The public, who have witnessed the earnest solicitude with which we have uniformly supported the endeavors of the revolutionists, will not be surprised that we hasten to express our satisfaction at some occurrences of which, first from the Federal Republican, and since that from the National Intelligencer, we have had information; which information, though by no means so circumstantial as we could wish, is sufficient, when accompanied by some comments on it, received from a private friend nearer than we are to the seat of government, to afford us much pleasure, together with a lively hope that in some shape or other the thing has for some time occupied the attention of our leading men, and will not only be fairly considered in the cabinet, but candidly discussed in congress.

However humiliating it may be to the pride of inconsiderate men, it is yet an undeniable truth that mankind naturally share in a considerable degree the constitutional frailties and passions of the other classes of animal existence; with this difference only, that those frailties and passions are more or less controlled in the human species by reason, and its offspring law and religion. On this truth physiognomists build much not only of the elementary but the practical part of their science. Indeed, if it were not for some secret law of this kind, how should we account for many of the extraordinary phenomena that present themselves at times in human conduct? How, for example, could we account for the pertinacious adherence to an old enemy which inveterately clings to men—yes, to whole bodies of men, in the very teeth of reason and common sense? Is it not precisely the same kind of animal infirmity which makes dogs, who have ever been in the habit of fighting with each other, so incurably jealous and fierce to one another that, though by the authority of their masters, or any other cause, partially reconciled, they never fail at any sudden meeting to salute one another with a grin and a growl and erected hairs; even though they wag their tails and kiss each other the next moment. If there be not some flaw of this kind in the nature of man, how can we account for that sense less perseverance with which our democratic and federal editors and zealots keep up the grin and the growl and the bristle of wrath at each other, even when there is not the vestige of a bone fur the cause of South America find less than a zealous advocate—an intrepid champion in every editor and writer of every party, whose heart justly swells with transport and pride at the freedom and independence which he inherits from his wise and gallant kindred and countrymen, having placed themselves in precisely the same majestic, awful and perilous situation in which the South American Patriots now stand.

But we have been seduced out of our straight march by our feelings. Let us return to it.

A pamphlet, which we have not yet had an opportunity to peruse attentively, but which we believe to be recommended by unusual ability, force of argument, and eloquence, as well as by the most honorable feelings, has been published at Washington, recommending—not war with Spain, for that he disavows, but a recognition of the independence of those provinces who have succeeded in expelling the Spanish authorities, and in establishing governments for themselves, and who, in short, have placed themselves in a situation to justify, upon the principles established by our own conduct with the revolutionary governments of France, and with the ministry of Spain itself when the Cortes succeeded, our maintaining a state of amity with them. As this pamphlet, which bears the title of "A letter to the President," is said—we may say is well known to be written by a gentleman high in the confidence of our executive—one, too, who has for some time been nominated to go to South America as an agent of our government, and must, of course, be not only in the secret, but carry the opinion of the cabinet along with him, the general conclusion is, and to us it appears an inevitable one, that that which is prescribed in this letter will turn out to be the policy of our government, and that the publication of it in the shape of a pamphlet is intended, gradually and rationally, to unfold to the American people the purpose of the cabinet, and thereby to regulate and keep within bounds the ardor of the people, which is breathed forth all over the union with daily increasing warmth. If this conclusion be correct, the question whether the independence of La Plata, Chili, &c. shall be acknowledged, will depend for its solution on the report of the commissioners, and among them, of the author of this pamphlet, whether those provinces are or are not in a state to justify our government in taking that step.

The confidence with which this gentleman asserts that the nations of Europe will not interfere in the contest has been cavilled at—we think unnecessarily. The means of our government to get at that fact is as perfect here as envoys of our own in Europe could make it; and we cannot suppose that a person in the situation of the author would hazard it without authority. Besides, there is a much firmer ground to rely on: it is the interest of the European powers generally that South America should be independent. Should any one of them attempt to intrigue with Ferdinand for its own aggrandizement, the rest would fall upon it. And as to Spain herself declaring war against us, it is out of the question, since, as the writer of the letter justly says, "she holds too deep a stake to strike the first blow."

Charleston, Oct. 21.

FROM AMELIA ISLAND.—LATEST.

A gentleman who left Ferdinandina on the 16th inst. informs us, that the Florida Patriots had been in a state of great confusion for some days before he left the Island, and it was not expected that matters would be settled immediately. The French party, under Commodore Anny, with his 3000 troops, on one side; and Governor Sheriff Hubbard, with all the Americans, and the greatest part of the seamen, on the other, are at open war; and it was the general expectation that blood would be shed before the contest ended. Such was the instability of the government, that new councils were formed every two or three days. On the 15th, an arrangement was entered into which excluded the military entirely from power; and there was no doubt that this council would be overturned soon by the military, who, in their turn, would exclude the civilians of this rising empire from all participation in the admini-tration. For the last three days the parties were actually in arms against each other; and it is next to impossible, even on the spot, to conjecture what a week or a day may bring forth. Strong reinforcements were hourly expected by both sides; and should Commodore Champlain go in, who was off St. Mary's Bar, with three or four sail of vessels, the American party expected to carry the day; if not, Com. Anny, with his veterans, will probably keep the upper hand.

From the New York Daily Advertiser.

The account which we publish to-day, of the situation and sufferings of the hon. col. Ponsonby, of the British army at the battle of Waterloo, affords a striking, and indeed an awful exhibition, of that most tremendous scene—a FIELD OF BATTLE. This gentleman, notwithstanding the number and severity of his wounds, it would seem, was in full possession of his reason and understanding, after the recovery from the first blow by which he was stunned for a short time, and though lying in a state not only helpless, but forlorn as the imagination can well conceive, he was still capable of realizing what took place within the reach of his senses in that situation. The result of his observations, so far as he has detailed it on this occasion, appears in the above-mentioned account.

One circumstance which is worthy of notice, is the cold-blooded cupidity of men, no matter of what nation, engaged in sacrificing each others' lives. French soldiers, Prussian soldiers, and, as far as he could judge, a British soldier, had a desire to plunder him, while lying in such a sorrowful predicament. Nor could they be satisfied, even when he assured them that he had already been stripped of what little treasure he had about him.

The state of mind which he was in, and which he describes in simple but forcible language, must have been truly dreadful. To be under the necessity of lying, wounded and bleeding as he was, through such a tremendous conflict, incapable of helping himself, or even of guarding in the slightest degree against the approach of danger, of any description, and after the battle had ceased, through the succeeding night, witnessing his own awful situation, and that of thousands of his fellow-beings that surrounded him, wounded, dying, and dead, one would think, would have overpowered the stoutest heart, and the strongest nerves. Such, indeed, were its effects upon the mind of this officer, who appears to have been capable of supporting as much as human nature could well bear, that he describes the intervals of profound silence, which occasionally succeeded the roaring of cannon, and the clashing of arms, as even more painful than the preceding tumult and uproar.

What lamentable effects are produced by the pride and ambition of man. The probability is, that not less than forty thousand human beings lost their lives in this battle. Suppose that each of these was able to reckon even five near relations, or friends, deeply interested in their welfare. The allowance is very small, and yet it would make the number of two hundred thousand persons made miserable in a single day, for the sole purpose of gratifying the above-mentioned base and detestable passions. We know very well that much consolation is derived from this bloody source to the martial spirits, and the considerations of fame, and talents, and great exploits. Nothing captivates the mind more fully than bravery, heroism, and military skill and conduct. But, let it be remembered, that from the same source, have proceeded more misery and woe to the human race than from any, and perhaps all others, since the fall of Adam. It is to be hoped that the time is approaching, when a more just estimate will be fixed upon a subject so intimately connected with the happiness and misery of this miserable world.

BATTLE OF WATERLOO.

In the great battle of Waterloo, col. Ponsonby, a British officer of great merit, was desperately wounded, and was supposed to have been killed. His life, however, was preserved in a manner almost miraculous, after enduring, one would imagine almost too great for the human frame to support. The following account, drawn up from his own statement, contains an interesting narration of his situation and sufferings while lying on the field, and affords a terrible and awful picture of the effects of such sanguinary conflicts—pictures which too often exist, in all their horrid colors, and fall of producing their proper effects upon the mind only because they are viewed in detail.

"Dear Lady Besborough,

You have often wished for some written account of the adventures and sufferings of your son, col. Ponsonby, in the field of Waterloo: the modesty of his nature, is, however, no small obstacle in the way. Will the following imperfect sketch supply its place until it comes? The battle was alluded to one morning in the library at A—, and his answers to many of the questions which were put to him, and here thrown together, as nearly as I could remember, in his own words.

The weather cleared up at noon, and the sun shone out a little just as the battle began. The armies were within eight hundred yards of each other, the videttes, before they were withdrawn, being so near as to be able to converse. At one moment I imagined that I saw Bonaparte, a considerable staff moved rapidly along the front of our line.

I was stationed with my regiment (about 500 strong) at the extreme of the left wing, and directed to act discretionally: each of the armies was drawn up on a gentle declivity, a small valley lying between them. At one o'clock, observing, as I thought, unsteadiness in a column of French infantry (50 by 20—1000—or thereabouts,) which were advancing with an irregular fire, I resolved to charge them. As we were descending in a gallop, we received from our troops on the right a fire much more destructive than theirs, they having begun long before it could take effect, and slackening as we drew nearer; when we were within fifty paces of them, they turned, and much execution was done among them, as we were followed by some Belgians, who had marked our success.

But we had no sooner passed through them, then we were attacked in our turn before we could form, by about 500 Polish Lancers, who had come down to their relief. The French artillery poured in among us a heavy fire of grape shot, which, however, for one of our men killed three of their own; in the melee I was disabled almost instantly in both of my arms, and followed by a few of my men, who were presently cut down (no quarter being asked or given.) I was carried on my horse, till receiving a blow on my head from a sabre, I was thrown senseless on my face to the ground. Recovering, I raised myself a little to look round (being, I believe, at that time in a condition to get up and run away,) when a lance passing by, exclaimed, "Tu n'es pas mort coquin!" and struck his lance through my back; my head dropped, the blood gushed into my mouth, a difficulty of breathing came on, and I thought all was over.

Not long afterwards (it was then impossible to measure time, but I must have fallen in less than ten minutes after the charge) a tirailleur came up to plunder me, threatening to take my life. I told him that he might search me, directing him to a small side pocket, in which he found three dollars, being all I had; he unlocked my stock, tore open my waistcoat, then leaving me in a very uneasy posture; and was no sooner gone, than another came up for the same purpose, but assuring him that I had been plundered already, he left me; when an officer, bringing on some troops, (to which, probably the tirailleurs belonged,) and halting where I lay, stooped down and addressed me, saying he feared I was badly wounded. I replied that I was, and expressed a wish to be removed into the rear; he said it was against the order to remove even their own men, but that if they gained the day, as they probably would (for he understood the Duke of Wellington was killed, and that six of our battalions had succeeded,) every attention in his power should be shewn me. I complained of thirst, and he held his brandy-bottle to my lips, directing one of his men to lay me straight on my side, and place a knapsack under my head; he then passed on into the action, and I shall never know to whose generosity I was indebted, as I conceive, for my life—of what rank he was I cannot say, he wore a blue great coat. By and by another tirailleur came, and knelt and fired over me, loading and firing many times, and conversing with great glee all the while; at last ran off saying, "Vous serez bien aise d'entendre que nous allons nous retirer; bon jour, mon ami."

While the battle continued in that part, several of the wounded men and dead bodies near me were hit with the balls which came very thick in that place. Towards evening, when the Prussians came, the continued roar of the cannon along theirs and the British line growing louder and louder as they drew near, was the finest thing I ever heard. It was dusk, and two squadrons of Prussian cavalry, both of them too deep, passed over me in full trot, lifting me from the ground, and tumbling me about cruelly; the clatter of their approach, and the apprehension it excited, may be easily conceived; had a gun come that way it would have done for me. The battle was then nearly over, or removed to a distance; the cries and groans of the wounded all around me became every instant more and more audible, succeeding to the shouts, imprecations, outcries, "Vive l'Empereur!" the discharges of musketry and cannon; now and then intervals of perfect silence which were worse than the noise. I thought the night would never end. Much about this time, I found a soldier of the Royals lying across my legs, who had probably crawled thither in his agony; his weight, convulsive motions, his noises, and the air issuing through his side, distressed me greatly, the latter circumstance most of all, as the case was my own. It was not a dark night, and the Prussians were wandering about to plunder (and the scene in Ferdinand Count Fathom came into my mind, though to women, I believe were there;) several of them came and looked at me, and passed on; at length one stopped to examine me: I told him as well as I could (for I could say but little in German,) that I was British officer, had been wounded already; he did not desist, however, but pulled me about roughly before he left me. About an hour before midnight, I saw a soldier in an English uniform coming towards me; he was, I suspect on the same errand. He came and looked in my face, I spoke instantly,

HOUSE, LANDS, &c.
For Rent.
THAT large and convenient WAREHOUSE, on King street, near the corner of the subscriber. The terms will be made according to the state of the market. Apply to the subscriber, on the 25th day of November next.
Oct. 5. R. & L. MANDEVILLE.

Public Sale.
IN pursuance of a power of attorney from Mr. J. M. Mair, of London, to the subscriber, will be exposed to sale, at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the 25th day of November next,
5 Lots of Ground, situated on Duke and Pitt streets, near the residence of Mr. Thomas Janney. The title is indisputable, and the terms will be made known on the day of sale.
WM. HERBERT,
Attorney for John Mair.

Land for Sale.
IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of land. There is surplus timber and fine wood enough on the part I propose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.
sept. 27. EDGAR MCCARTY.

A valuable Farm for Sale.
THE SUBSCRIBER will sell, on reasonable terms, a valuable and productive farm of 600 acres, or thereabouts—being part of the lands of the late Richard Brent, lying on Kettle Run in the county of Prince William, in the state of Virginia—20 miles from the Occoquan Mills—33 miles from Alexandria, and about the same distance from Georgetown and the City of Washington. This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—is handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past, been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry. Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.
JOHN D. SIMMS.
september 6.

Rich Kenhawa Lands for Sale or Barter.
I WILL sell or exchange, for property in this district or its vicinity, a valuable tract of land in Mason county, Virginia, situated on the Great Kenhawa River, at the mouth of Eighteen Mile Creek, distant from Point Pleasant about eighteen miles. This tract binds upon the river, and contains by patent one thousand and fifty acres, a large proportion of which is rich bottom. The title is old, and indisputable, having been located and surveyed by Gen. Washington before the Revolution. What may be considered as adding much to its value is the passage of the western road through it. By a reference to Mr. Madison's map of Virginia, the situation of the land may be designated. Apply to Colonel Francis Peyton, or ANN-ELIZA PEYTON.
October 8.

Land for Sale.
THE subscribers will offer at public sale, on Monday the 17th November next, if fair, if not, the next fair day thereafter—a tract of LAND on Patuxent river, near Trueman's Point, known by the name of TIMBER NECK, supposed to contain 300 acres. It is well wooded, and would make a desirable little farm. Terms of sale 6 and 12 months credit, with bond and good security.
GEORGE FORBES.
HORATIO C. MELDERRY.
October 16.

Notice.
BEING desirous of having as little trouble as possible in keeping book accounts, I would beg those that deal with me to send orders, and not for less than one dollar at a time.
I will rent a part of my house for a large wholesale dry good or grocery, or retail, or both, with a good cellar and cooking room, by the year or otherwise. Or, all the concern I now live at, but not for less than five years; or I will sell the whole at a fair price—80 feet on King street, and 100 deep. No better stand in the street.
A very neat little brick house to let in Duke street, between Patrick and Henry streets.
ALEX. PERRY.
sept. 10.

For Sale,
THAT large and commodious three story brick Dwelling House on King street upper end at present occupied by Dr. George P. Thornton. For terms apply to
WM. HERBERT, Jun.
May 21.

Lots for Sale, on a Credit.
THE subscriber is empowered to sell a number of LOTS, at the lower end of Fairfax street, and all the LOW GROUND adjacent to Jones's Point. A liberal credit will be given. The title is indisputable.
J. D. SIMMS.
October 9.

To Let.
TWO Back WAREHOUSES, situated at the intersection of King and Columbus streets, well calculated for the Dry Good, Grocery, or Flour Business. For terms enquire of
W. H. DUNDAS.
september 10.

Land for Sale.
THE subscriber offers for sale a tract of 80 acres of land, on the Colchester road, five miles from Alexandria, adjoining the lands of Maywood Foote and Dennis Johnston. The greater part of this tract is fine meadow land, abundantly supplied with water. Also one other tract of 261 acres, on the Ravensworth road, about 6 miles from Alexandria, and one mile from the first mentioned tract, adjoining land of Thos. Janney and Mr. Macpherson—the greater part of this tract is in wood, the soil good and highly susceptible of improvement, from the use of plaster. If these lands are not sold before the first of January next, they will then be for rent.
CHARLES SIMMS.
June 18.

Wood Cutters, look here!
ON the first Monday in November next I shall expose to public sale, at the court house in the town of Dumfries, for cash, a tract of LAND, lying within one mile of the town of Occoquan, containing 123 acres, all in woods, and heavily covered with oak and pine timber. The land will be shown by Zachariah Ward, Esq. JAMES DENEALE.
Dumfries, Oct. 25.

WM. HERBERT, Jun.
May 21.

A Wet Nurse Wanted.
LIBERAL wages will be given for a wet nurse, who can come well recommended. Apply to the printer of the Alexandria Gazette.
Oct. 18.

Bolting Cloths.
THE subscriber has this day received, a large and elegant assortment of Bolting Cloths, of a superior quality, which will be offered for sale at the store of Messrs. Butts & Cannon, King street, Alex., where he intends keeping a complete assortment in return.
Sept. 6. AMOS ALEXANDER.

For Sale,
A STRONG healthy NEGRO MAN, believed to be from thirty to thirty-five years of age. He has for a few years past worked under the direction of an experienced green-house gardener. Apply to NOLAN HANNAH, Esq. Alexandria.
August 5.

Thirty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from my service, on the 10th inst. my mulatto house-servant GEORGE, between 18 and 19 years of age, about 5 feet 6 inches high, slender made, pug nose, bushy hair, half of one of his upper front teeth broken off—he is very artful and forward, and a capable house-servant—he took with him a variety of clothing. I will give the above reward, if secured in any jail, so that I get him again, and will pay all reasonable charges if brought home. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned from employing or carrying off said servant at their peril.
C. F. WHITING.
Morroco, near Alexandria, Sept. 15.

Fifty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from the subscriber, living at Columbia Court-house, Georgia, a negro man, named MIN-NT, about 30 years of age, 5 feet 6 inches high, dark complexion, grins when spoken to, remarkably bow-legged, and has a little impediment in his speech—he was formerly the property of Mr. James Anderson, of Alexandria, and it is not improbable he may be lurking about Alexandria as he has a wife there, or he may have made for Philadelphia, and pretend he is free and show false papers. I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing him in jail so that I get him again.
CALEB EUBANK.
september 8.

Twenty Dollars Reward.
LEFT my employ on Thursday, the 11th inst. a servant boy, named SPENCER; he is about 15 or 16 years old, tolerably well grown, is bow-legged, of light yellow complexion, stammers when spoken to. He is probably lurking about town, and will no doubt try to pass for a free boy. I will give the above reward, if taken more than ten miles from town, ten dollars if taken out of the district, and five if taken within the district. I forewarn all persons from harboring or carrying off said boy, as I am determined to have such offenders punished to the extent of the law.
T. MOUNT.
sept. 27.

Twenty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY from William Galt, near Fredericktown, on the Lancaster road, in April last, a Negro Woman, named JULIET, about 30 years of age, 5 feet high, has lost several of her upper front teeth, speaks quick & sharp—she was sold by a Mr. Darby, of Anne Arundel county, to some Georgia traders whom she left near Richmond, Va. and was lodged in Fredericktown jail, from whence she was sold for her jail fees, & purchased by John P. Thompson, and by him sold to William Galt. It is supposed she is now lurking about the district of Columbia or its vicinity. The above reward will be paid for apprehending and securing her so that I get her.
JAMES GALT.
Alexandria, Oct. 6.

N. B. Masters of vessels and others are forewarned against carrying off said runaway.

Fifty Dollars Reward.
RAN AWAY, on Saturday evening, the 11th inst. my mulatto man, named NED, commonly called NEN M-RAN alias Satawiso. He is about 23 or 24 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches high, and was raised in Manchester. Ned is well made, high forehead and large flat nose; had on when he went away a grey coat and pantaloons, but as he was well provided with clothing of various kinds, it is probable he may have changed his dress. It is believed he went off with his wife, who it appears left Richmond at the same time: she is very black, and I believe, somewhat pitted with the small pox, talks a great deal, of short stature, and rather thick made. Ned is very artful, and may probably attempt to pass for a free man; he has a down look when spoken to. The above reward will be given if taken out of Richmond or Manchester, and twenty-five dollars if taken in either place, and all reasonable expenses paid for delivering him to the subscriber.
DAVID BARCLAY.
N. B. Masters of vessels and others, are cautioned against harboring, employing or carrying off said fellow, under penalty of the law.
Richmond, Oct. 23.

P. G. MARSTELLER.
November 27.

Sales at Auction.
On Wednesdays and Saturdays, WILL BE OFFERED, At the Auction Office on Union street, Between King and Prince—
An extensive and general assortment of seasonable Goods, of British, French, German, India, and Domestic Manufacture, which will be well selected, and well worthy the attention of town and country merchants and others; as the undersigned will be abundantly supplied from the manufacturers and their friends in Boston, New York and Philadelphia—which will give to gentlemen an opportunity of laying in their goods on as good terms as they can be in those cities, taking into view the difference of Exchange, etc. etc.
The particular description of goods will be advertised in the papers of the day.
Consignments strictly attended to and liberal advances made if desirable.
John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son, BOOKSELLERS,
KING STREET, ALEXANDRIA,
RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from Lee's Medicine Store,
No. 45, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:
Hamilton's Worm-detracting Lozenges.
Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various distressing complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.
This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly contained as of operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humors and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.
Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.
Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tania or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.
Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching of the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fecid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs, and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.
Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.
A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number who in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.
Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.
The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.
The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.
Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.
It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.
The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age. They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual constiveness—sickness of the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons as a change of climate.
They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
